

School-year Tutoring Availability

Standard version; updated March 15, 2020

Below are the starting times I currently have available for tutoring. These are the times available for 1-hour, ongoing sessions (not one-offs).

Note this is all subject to change; people often swap around to accommodate changes in sports and other activities. I try to update this list every time my schedule changes.

Floating

If none of the above times work for your schedule, you can instead “float”—come during times that open up through a cancellation—until a permanent time becomes available. I will text you whenever an appropriate slot becomes free and you can opt to take that time or wait for another.

These times are for math, science, and computer programming. Barbara keeps a separate calendar for English literature, writing, and history tutoring.
